

Two of Corsicana's Finest Firefighter/Paramedics Recognized as "GREAT FIRST RESPONDERS"

Two members of the Corsicana Fire Rescue team were honored this month as "Great First Responders" at this year's CareFlite Emergency Update Conference in Arlington, Texas during National Emergency Medical Services week.

Firefighter / Paramedic Caden Anthony and Firefighter / Paramedic Steve Jenkins were nominated by Corsicana's Medical Control partner which provides medical protocols and paramedic oversight.

"These Paramedics have demonstrated an unwavering commitment to patient care and excellence in service delivery," said Fire Chief Paul Henley. Each recipient has a continuing history of providing exceptional service with a dedication to patient advocacy. Caden Anthony has been with Corsicana Fire Rescue three years, entering the Fire Department with his Paramedic certification. He has superb clinical skills as well as devoted compassion for patients. He lives in Eustace. Steve Jenkins has more than 15 years of experience with Corsicana Fire Rescue and has been a Paramedic for most of his tenure. He is known for his concern and empathy with the patients and citizens he encounters. He lives in Emhouse.

Anthony and Jenkins were honored at the 12th annual ECU conference, one of the oldest in the United States. The Corsicana Fire Rescue used National EMS week to focus on detailed training on various topics and skill-based, hands-on procedures in which all Paramedics must be proficient.

Corsicana Fire Rescue is a progressive organization delivering a wide variety of emergency and non-emergency services for Corsicana and Navarro County. Their mission is to maintain a continuous state of readiness to protect those they serve and to provide the highest quality of services when called upon.
